Miss Cushman's First Appearance as Meg Merrilies.

It happened while she was filling the part of walking lady at the old Park street theater, New York, in the season of 1837-8, and was the result of pure accident. John Braham, the great London tenor, was performing an engagement at the time, and a series of light English operas had been put upon the boards. "Guy Mannering," which was originally produced as a musical drama, was one of these. The greater part of the play was spoken, but melodies and set pieces were interspersed which called into requisition the art of the vocalist. The character of Henry Bertram was assumed by Braham, while Miss Cushman was cast for the humble part of the young Gypsy, Marie. As the business of the play was then arranged, it fell to the lot of Marie to sing the cradle song in the scene where Meg recalls herself to the recollection of Bertram by means of the ballad with which she used to soothe him to sleep in his childhood. Acting upon the supposition that her voice was broken by age and unequal to the task, it was her custom to summon the young Gypsy to revive the song for her.

One day, after rehearsal, the leading lady of the theater was suddenly seized with indisposition. In the dilemma that arose the manager begged Miss Cushman to go on and read the part of Meg Merrilies, that evening. Miss Cushman obligingly consented, but with no intention of reading the part. She took the lines to her room and had them at her tongue's end by nightfall. But to use her own words as we remember them:—

"I had never paid any consideration to that character," said Miss Cushman. "It was always my habit to attend studiously to my own business and give no heed to the performances of the others. When stars were on the stage I watched them closely to learn whatever was possible. At other times I confined myself to my individual work. Thus it came about that I had little idea how Meg Merrilies was dressed or played, and, never having rehearsed the part, was entirely ignorant of the business. While I was conning my lines and walking back and forth behind the scenes, waiting for the curtain to rise on the play, the manager came to me again in great distress. 'I have forgotten to provide a singer for the part of the young Gypsy,' he exclaimed. 'What shall we do?' 'I don't know, I am sure,' replied I. But after thinking a moment, I added, 'Perhaps, when I come to the place, I can manage to introduce the song myself. I will try,' and thus relieved, the manager left me.

"In much trepidation I listened at the wings, trying to catch some inspiration from the progress of the play, when I overheard the closing words in the dialogue between Hatteraick and the Gypsy—just preceding the appearance of Meg on the scene—when one says of her, 'Oh, she dotes.' To which the other replies: 'But she rules the tribe.'—These sentences gave me a sudden clew to the situation of the decrepit but still powerful queen, and a full conception of the character flashed upon me.

"I immediately sprang before the footlights in the attitude I have ever since taken. The pose was so novel and striking, the audience manifested a good deal of emotion, and when Braham turned and discovered me he gave an unaffected start of astonishment.—This assured me somewhat, and I went on with the part, giving it in all important particulars the interpretation and action which I have always retained. I saw that Braham was puzzled throughout the evening, that I was continually surprising him, but whether pleasantly or not I could not tell. As we had not rehearsed together, and I was consequently ignorant of the stage business, I had to trust wholly to my intuitions, and naturally occasioned him considerable perplexity.

"When I came to the cradle song, which I managed to bring in successfully, Bertram fairly glared at me in amazement. My nerves were sorely tried, but I poured out my whole heart in the song, and as I gradually drew near and bent down over Bertram, slowly dropping my hand on his head, I saw the big tears rolling down his cheeks. Then I knew I had made a hit, and felt encouraged to go through the piece.

"After the play was over, and I had gone to my room, quivering with excitement, the call-boy rapped at my door, saying, 'Miss Cushman, Mr. Braham wishes to speak with you.' I rose in affright, feeling sure he must mean to reprove me for my inadequate acting. As I went to the door, I framed in words the excuse that, as I had not enjoyed the advantage of a rehearsal, it could not be expected that I should satisfy the demands of the part. But Mr. Braham met me with extended hand, saying, 'Miss Cushman, I have come to thank you for a genuine gratification. If you had played Meg Merrilies in London as you have played it here, to-night, your fortune would be made.'"

"And were you not immediately promoted?" was our inquiry of Miss Cushman.

"Oh, no, certainly not. I had but done my duty in the place where I was put, and I continued two years longer as walking lady at the Park theater, with a salary of $20 a week, and only two-thirds of that when the business was poor."

—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says: "One may be pardoned for sneezing under any circumstances, in view of the experience of a woman from this city in Westfield, recently. Being in company, and attempting to suppress a sneeze, she felt a queer sensation in the left side of her face, which soon began swelling and drawing out of shape. A physician was called, but by the time he arrived her mouth and the left side of her face had become drawn up, disfiguring her so that her most intimate friends could scarcely recognize her features, while she found it impossible to close her left eye. The physicians say it is a kind of paralysis caused by the great effort she made to suppress the sneeze, and gives but faint hopes that her features will ever resume their natural appearance.—She is now in this city seeking medical advice.

Ingenious Dental Practice.

The Dental Cosmo describes the operation of inserting a porcelain tooth, without a plate or clasps, and where no rest remains, and where the remaining teeth are firm in their sockets—this operation being for a patient who disliked the wearing of a plate, and desired something different. After forming appropriate cavities in the proximate surfaces of the teeth next the space left from the loss of the natural tooth, an impression was taken, and a plain porcelain tooth selected, fitted to the parts and backed with gold, a portion of the backing extending from each side about one and a half lines, for insertion into the cavities prepared for them in the adjoining teeth. A small gold plate was then formed to fit upon the gum, covering as much of it as would embrace the neck of the natural tooth were it in position. The backing, when riveted to the procelain, was then adapted to the position in which it was to be placed; and while the whole rested on the small plate upon the gum, the backing and plate were so secured by a cement that they could be removed intact, after the usual preparation, soldered. The surface of the extended sides of the backing was roughened, so that the gold would better secure them well filled into every part. This being done, a thin piece of rubber coffer dam was placed on the adjoining teeth and over the gum, upon which the porcelain, with the gold attachment, was to rest. The rubber occupies but little space, and when ligated to the teeth adjoining, so presses up the gum that its thickness is more than compensated for. The porcelain, with its attachments, was then placed in position and secured firmly by the solid impactation of small pieces of light, cohesive gold foil around that portion of the plate extending into the cavities.

A Source of Great Anxiety.

My daughter has received great benefit from the use of VEGETINE. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all her friends. A few bottles of the VEGETINE restored her health, strength and appetite. N. H. TILDEN, Insurance and Real Estate Agent, No. 49 Sears Building,
BOSTON, Mass., June 5, 1872.

MOTHERS, READ THIS!

A GREAT BLESSING!!

Worth a Dollar a Drop.

Mothers, are your little ones fretful? And is your patience almost exhausted in vain efforts to please them? I can sympathize with you, and can tell you what will make your little child quiet, give it a good appetite, and procure for it hours of sweet, sound sleep.

My little girl is two and a half years old, and during that time, I have not had two consecutive nights' rest. She has been sick a number of times, and no one seemed to know what was troubling her. It was hard to hear her little fretful cry, and not know what to do for her. I doctored her for worms, but it did no good; and I was nearly tired out with sleepless nights and troublesome days.

I heard of the VEGETINE and determined to try it. It has proved a blessing to me and my child.—It has cleansed from her stomach and bowels the sores which kept gathering there; and now she sleeps soundly from her bed-time until very late in the morning, beside a long nap at mid-day. Her appetite is good; and, in fact, she is like a different child. I often say, the true value of this medicine to me is a dollar a drop. Try it. Cleanse the humors from your children's blood while they are young. Try it, and you will join with me in calling it a great blessing. MRS. ELLEN L. CLAPP, 175 Tudor Street.

SOUTH BOSTON, July 10, 1871.

CIRCULATION of the BLOOD.

The circulation of the blood is the life of the body, and its stoppage is death. We are healthy when the blood circulates freely; any interruption preventing its free course is the commencement of disease. "Blood is the life of the flesh." Can we expect to enjoy good health, when bad or corrupt humors circulate with the blood, causing pain and disease: and these humors being deposited throughout the entire body, produce pimples, eruptions, ulcers, indigestion, costiveness, headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, and numerous other complaints. No disease can be in the body without first being generated in the blood; and no disease can possibly be in the body, if the blood is pure. It is of great importance to know what medicine will purify and renovate the blood, eradicate the disease, renew vitality, mentally and physically, and instill fresh vigor into all the vital functions of the body. This medicine is the VEGETINE, the great blood-purifier.

It extends its influence into every part of the human organism, commencing with its foundation; correcting diseased action, and restoring vital powers, creating a healthy formation and purification of the blood, driving out disease, and leaving Nature to perform its allotted task.

VEGETINE is composed of Roots, Barks and Herbs. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. Sold by all druggists. M17w4

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues.—Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equaled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season.—Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and otherwise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Prospectus for 1874--7th Year.

The Aldine,

An illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale at Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature, and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1873.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates" is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

PREMIUM FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in The White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives The Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial, over the signature of Mr. Moran himself:

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20th, 1873.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & CO.

Gentlemen:—I am delighted with the proof in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings,

Very respectfully,
(Signed,) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any the worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

For 50 cents extra, the chromos will be sent, mounted, varnished, and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will hereafter, be obtained only be subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & CO.

Any person wishing to act permanently as local canvasser will receive full and prompt information by applying to

Miss Cushman's First Appearance as Meg Merrilies.

It happened while she was filling the part of walking lady at the old Park street theater, New York, in the season of 1837-8, and was the result of pure accident. John Braham, the great London tenor, was performing an engagement at the time, and a series of light English operas had been put upon the boards. "Guy Mannering," which was originally produced as a musical drama, was one of these. The greater part of the play was spoken, but melodies and set pieces were interspersed which called into requisition the art of the vocalist. The character of Henry Bertram was assumed by Braham, while Miss Cushman was cast for the humble part of the young Gypsy, Marie. As the business of the play was then arranged, it fell to the lot of Marie to sing the cradle song in the scene where Meg recalls herself to the recollection of Bertram by means of the ballad with which she used to soothe him to sleep in his childhood. Acting upon the supposition that her voice was broken by age and unequal to the task, it was her custom to summon the young Gypsy to revive the song for her.

One day, after rehearsal, the leading lady of the theater was suddenly seized with indisposition. In the dilemma that arose the manager begged Miss Cushman to go on and read the part of Meg Merrilies, that evening. Miss Cushman obligingly consented, but with no intention of reading the part. She took the lines to her room and had them at her tongue's end by nightfall. But to use her own words as we remember them:—

"I had never paid any consideration to that character," said Miss Cushman. "It was always my habit to attend studiously to my own business and give no heed to the performances of the others. When stars were on the stage I watched them closely to learn whatever was possible. At other times I confined myself to my individual work. Thus it came about that I had little idea how Meg Merrilies was dressed or played, and, never having rehearsed the part, was entirely ignorant of the business. While I was conning my lines and walking back and forth behind the scenes, waiting for the curtain to rise on the play, the manager came to me again in great distress. 'I have forgotten to provide a singer for the part of the young Gypsy," he exclaimed. 'What shall we do?' 'I don't know, I am sure,' replied I. But after thinking a moment, I added, 'Perhaps, when I come to the place, I can manage to introduce the song myself. I will try,' and thus relieved, the manager left me.

"In much trepidation I listened at the wings, trying to catch some inspiration from the progress of the play, when I overheard the closing words in the dialogue between Hatteraick and the Gypsy—just preceding the appearance of Meg on the scene—when one says of her, 'Oh, she dotes.' To which the other replies: 'But she rules the tribe.'—These sentences gave me a sudden clew to the situation of the decrepit but still powerful queen, and a full conception of the character flashed upon me.

"I immediately sprang before the footlights in the attitude I have ever since taken. The pose was so novel and striking, the audience manifested a good deal of emotion, and when Braham turned and discovered me he gave an unaffected start of astonishment.—This assured me somewhat, and I went on with the part, giving it in all important particulars the interpretation and action which I have always retained. I saw that Braham was puzzled throughout the evening, that I was continually surprising him, but whether pleasantly or not I could not tell. As we had not rehearsed together, and I was consequently ignorant of the stage business, I had to trust wholly to my intuitions, and naturally occasioned him considerable perplexity.

"When I came to the cradle song, which I managed to bring in successfully, Bertram fairly glared at me in amazement. My nerves were sorely tried, but I poured out my whole heart in the song, and as I gradually drew near and bent down over Bertram, slowly dropping my hand on his head, I saw the big tears rolling down his cheeks. Then I knew I had made a hit, and felt encouraged to go through the piece.

"After the play was over, and I had gone to my room, quivering with excitement, the call-boy rapped at my door, saying, 'Miss Cushman, Mr. Braham wishes to speak with you.' I rose in affright, feeling sure he must mean to reprove me for my inadequate acting. As I went to the door, I framed in words the excuse that, as I had not enjoyed the advantage of a rehearsal, it could not be expected that I should satisfy the demands of the part. But Mr. Braham met me with extended hand, saying, 'Miss Cushman, I have come to thank you for a genuine gratification. If you had played Meg Merrilies in London as you have played it here, to-night, your fortune would be made.'"

"And were you not immediately promoted?" was our inquiry of Miss Cushman.

"Oh, no, certainly not. I had but done my duty in the place where I was put, and I continued two years longer as walking lady at the Park theater, with a salary of $20 a week, and only two-thirds of that when the business was poor."

—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says: "One may be pardoned for sneezing under any circumstances, in view of the experience of a woman from this city in Westfield, recently. Being in company, and attempting to suppress a sneeze, she felt a queer sensation in the left side of her face, which soon began swelling and drawing out of shape. A physician was called, but by the time he arrived her mouth and the left side of her face had become drawn up, disfiguring her so that her most intimate friends could scarcely recognize her features, while she found it impossible to close her left eye. The physicians say it is a kind of paralysis caused by the great effort she made to suppress the sneeze, and gives but faint hopes that her features will ever resume their natural appearance.—She is now in this city seeking medical advice.

Ingenious Dental Practice.

The Dental Cosmo describes the operation of inserting a porcelain tooth, without a plate or clasps, and where no rest remains, and where the remaining teeth are firm in their sockets—this operation being for a patient who disliked the wearing of a plate, and desired something different. After forming appropriate cavities in the proximate surfaces of the teeth next the space left from the loss of the natural tooth, an impression was taken, and a plain porcelain tooth selected, fitted to the parts and backed with gold, a portion of the backing extending from each side about one and a half lines, for insertion into the cavities prepared for them in the adjoining teeth. A small gold plate was then formed to fit upon the gum, covering as much of it as would embrace the neck of the natural tooth were it in position. The backing, when riveted to the procelain, was then adapted to the position in which it was to be placed; and while the whole rested on the small plate upon the gum, the backing and plate were so secured by a cement that they could be removed intact, after the usual preparation, soldered. The surface of the extended sides of the backing was roughened, so that the gold would better secure them well filled into every part. This being done, a thin piece of rubber coffer dam was placed on the adjoining teeth and over the gum, upon which the porcelain, with the gold attachment, was to rest. The rubber occupies but little space, and when ligated to the teeth adjoining, so presses up the gum that its thickness is more than compensated for. The porcelain, with its attachments, was then placed in position and secured firmly by the solid impactation of small pieces of light, cohesive gold foil around that portion of the plate extending into the cavities.

A Source of Great Anxiety.

My daughter has received great benefit from the use of VEGETINE. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all her friends. A few bottles of the VEGETINE restored her health, strength and appetite. N. H. TILDEN, Insurance and Real Estate Agent, No. 49 Sears Building, BOSTON, Mass., June 5, 1872.

MOTHERS, READ THIS!

A GREAT BLESSING!!

Worth a Dollar a Drop.

Mothers, are your little ones fretful? And is your patience almost exhausted in vain efforts to please them? I can sympathize with you, and can tell you what will make your little child quiet, give it a good appetite, and procure for it hours of sweet, sound sleep.

My little girl is two and a half years old, and during that time, I have not had two consecutive nights' rest. She has been sick a number of times, and no one seemed to know what was troubling her. It was hard to hear her little fretful cry, and not know what to do for her. I doctored her for worms, but it did no good; and I was nearly tired out with sleepless nights and troublesome days.

I heard of the VEGETINE and determined to try it. It has proved a blessing to me and my child.—It has cleansed from her stomach and bowels the sores which kept gathering there; and now she sleeps soundly from her bed-time until very late in the morning, beside a long nap at mid-day. Her appetite is good; and, in fact, she is like a different child. I often say, the true value of this medicine to me is a dollar a drop. Try it. Cleanse the humors from your children's blood while they are young. Try it, and you will join with me in calling it a great blessing. MRS. ELLEN L. CLAPP, 175 Tudor Street.

SOUTH BOSTON, July 10, 1871.

CIRCULATION of the BLOOD.

The circulation of the blood is the life of the body, and its stoppage is death. We are healthy when the blood circulates freely; any interruption preventing its free course is the commencement of disease. "Blood is the life of the flesh." Can we expect to enjoy good health, when bad or corrupt humors circulate with the blood, causing pain and disease: and these humors being deposited throughout the entire body, produce pimples, eruptions, ulcers, indigestion, costiveness, headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, and numerous other complaints. No disease can be in the body without first being generated in the blood; and no disease can possibly be in the body, if the blood is pure. It is of great importance to know what medicine will purify and renovate the blood, eradicate the disease, renew vitality, mentally and physically, and instill fresh vigor into all the vital functions of the body. This medicine is the VEGETINE, the great blood-purifier.

It extends its influence into every part of the human organism, commencing with its foundation; correcting diseased action, and restoring vital powers, creating a healthy formation and purification of the blood, driving out disease, and leaving Nature to perform its allotted task.

VEGETINE is composed of Roots, Barks and Herbs. It is very pleasant to take; every child likes it. Sold by all druggists. M17w4

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues.—Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equaled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season.—Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and otherwise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Prospectus for 1874—7th Year.

The Aldine,

An illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale at Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature, and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1873.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates" is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

PREMIUM FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in The White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives The Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial, over the signature of Mr. Moran himself:

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20th, 1873.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & CO.

Gentlemen:—I am delighted with the proof in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings,

Very respectfully,
(Signed,) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any the worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

For 50 cents extra, the chromos will be sent, mounted, varnished, and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will hereafter, be obtained only be subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

Any person wishing to act permanently as local canvasser will receive full and prompt information by applying to

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the payment of the money secured by a mortgage dated the fourth day of May, 1854, executed by Cornelius H. Elting and Catherine Ann, his wife, of the town of Westfield, Richmond County, New York, to secure the payment of fifteen hundred dollars with interest thereon from the date thereof on the fourth day of May, 1855, and which mortgage was recorded in the Clerk's Office of the County of Ulster in Book No. 48 of Mortgages, on page 326 &c., June 22, 1854, at 9 o'clock A. M.

And whereas the said Cornelius Oliver duly assigned and transferred said mortgage and the bond accompanying the same to Jane Smith, wife of Gardinier Smith of the town of Hurley, Ulster County, New York, by assignment dated April 27, 1867, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book No. 89 of Mortgages, on page 532, &c., May 30, 1868, at 10½ o'clock A. M.

And whereas the said Jane Smith died intestate and without debts on the 11th day of January, 1874, leaving Cornelius C. Smith, John F. Smith, Richard C. Smith, Mary Dennis, and Jeannette Van Wagenen, all above twenty-one years of age, as her only children and heirs at law.

And whereas, the said Cornelius C. Smith, John F. Smith, Richard C. Smith, Mary Dennis and Jeannette Van Wagenen duly assigned and transferred all their right, title and interest in and to said bond and mortgage to their father, Gardinier Smith, by assignment dated January 31, 1874, and duly recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office, in book 186 of deeds, on page 59, &c., February 20, 1874.

And whereas the amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice is the sum of fifteen hundred and ninety one dollars, and eighty-two cents, to wit: $1,500 of principal and $91.82 of interest, and which is the whole amount claimed to be unpaid on said mortgage.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said mortgage and the power of sale therein contained, and duly recorded as aforesaid; and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction at the front door of the Court House, in the city of Kingston, in the county of Ulster, and state of New York, on the 12th day of June, 1874, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

The premises are described in said mortgage as follows: All that certain farm lying in the town of Marbletown, in the county of Ulster, and state of New York, and is bounded as follows, viz: Bounded on the north by lands of the heirs of John P. Brink and Gardinier Smith, on the east by lands of Abraham Diets and southwestern turnpike, on the south by lands of Jacob VanCuren, Edward O'Neil, Cornelius M. VanBuren, John Dewitt and Henry T. Jansen, and on the west by Mountain Road, containing about three hundred and thirty-four acres, be the same more or less, together with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, or in anywise appertaining and the reversion and reversions, remainder and remainders, rents, issues and profits thereof.

Kingston, Wednesday Morning, March 25.

Now that the scientists have gone down to Bald Mountain we may expect an eruption of learned talk as to the why and wherefore of the big noise which in comparison with it will be as a cannon to a pop gun. If the earthquake don't convert all the natives the professors will probably drive them crazy.

"The bleak winds of March

and we don't wonder at it; they have the same effect on ladies better clad than the poor unfortunate of Hood's Bridge of Sighs, and on many a gentleman with a thicker overcoat than the poet himself wore.

The annual supply bill has been reported in the Assembly and contains the following among the other principal appropriations: Poughkeepsie Insane Asylum, $140,000, to complete and furnish the wing now commenced, so as to receive patients; Middletown Homœopathic Insane Asylum, $117,000, to complete the building for the reception of patients. These appropriations will doubtless arouse some opposition, but on the general principle that it is best to complete a public work once begun, if for no other reason, they ought to be passed.

Wagner's Lohengrin had an enthusiastic reception in New York. It forms a new era in the history of operas in that city, as indeed of operas anywhere. The old habitues were not a little bewildered and unable to make up their minds as to whether they liked it or not. We think they will conclude that Wagner has done something absolutely novel in music and brought out ideas that are fresh and true from a mine from which nothing original was expected. We guess that future critics will speak of the daring German composer, not as the renovator of the opera, but as the founder of a new art. Time will tell.

Our moderate friend, Dr. Crosby, has drawn the vigorous fire of the total abstinence men, as we supposed he would. And he will get the worst of the battle, for he has assumed a position in reference to the temperance question which has grown less and less defensible as its vital bearings have become more clearly revealed. If it is wrong to drink liquor it is wrong to drink liquor, and no verbal juggling will ever make it anything else. The best thing the Doctor can do is either to recant his decanter notions or bow himself out of the argument with the quietest grace he can.

John Bull is slowly becoming convinced that we do "'ave some thing 'ere as good as we 'ave at 'ome." He has not been for centuries approachable with a proposition looking to the overthrow of his traditional belief that what isn't done in England and by Englishmen cannot be done at all. The Pullman palace car is, however, rolling its noiseless way into his favorable regard. With the perfect road-beds of the British railways, and Pullman's sumptuous and splendidly-arranged running upon them the acme of comfort will be reached in traveling by rail. Come, old friend of the common language, mark one to our credit.

We don't like Matt Morgan any the better for having painted his picture of the death bed of Senator Sumner for exhibition in Barnum's big gaslight show. There is a certain coarseness in the thought or project itself which we think will be deprecated by fine minds, besides the crudity which must eminently characterize the picture considered as a work of art. We protest against the haste with which the American mind accepts every prominent event as the basis of a possible speculation or of a cheap sensation. Let us trust Mr. Morgan will confine his pencil to subjects which will add to his reputation without shocking the taste and good sense of his friends.

Mr. Pierce's resolution introduced in the House to prevent "unprincipled persons" meddling with the congressional telegraph instruments couldn't have referred to Butler, for the invincible Ben is a man of more principles, and a greater variety of principles, than any other man in America. Besides he never sends a private dispatch unless it has some kind of bearing upon public interests. Truth to say, Butler can scarcely be said to possess any strictly private concerns at all; his ends and aims all having more or less connection with the country in whose behalf he drew his sword and whose treasures he identifies with his own. Therefore, we say, the resolution must have been drawn without any intention to reflect on the one man who deserves everything else except that.

The Inflation Vote.

If the House vote fixing the volume of the currency at $400,000,000 means anything it means that the country is to be cut loose from all immediate hope of possessing a standard for any kind of value. Two or three years from now we shall probably have arrived at a point where we shall be able to decide just how disastrous to the prosperity of the nation the action of the House on Monday was. It is entirely useless to show how stupid, or rather how besotted and mad our representatives seem to have been. The question of unlimited paper money as against an amount easily controllable, resting closely upon a gold basis, has been discussed and illustrated to a degree which, if it has left anybody unconvinced, has left no argument by which to convince him. It is too late to talk; the day for that has passed, and the beginning of the end has come. There's hardly a doubt that the Senate will concur, and thus consummate the inflation insanity against which the sober, clear-headed business men of the country have been protesting for months. There are only two courses, one of which must inevitably be followed by Congress after its recent action: The first is to repeal the bill and undo as far as possible its certain effects; the second is to keep on until the notes of the United States have become the laughing stock of the civilized world. To hope for repeal is the hope deferred which maketh the heart sick. How difficult it is to take the back track at any time is not a new thought to any one who has tried to reverse the habits which years have strengthened and established in his personal character; and what is easy comparatively for a single individual is hard for a whole people. The fact is, the success of the inflation scheme is one of the many wretched results of the demoralization which has gone on in this country, especially for the last fifteen years. The mania for money has driven economy and contentment in simple things out of the heads of the people. Every man who is sufficiently intelligent to have an ambition wants to be rich and to get rich suddenly. The war turned all our old ideas and estimates of affairs upside down. We lived in a whirl of abnormal excitement; the printing presses shed floods of crisp greenbacks at our feet. With a life-and-death struggle with the South upon our hands whose cost was millions per day, we never paid private debts so easily. Speculation stalked through the land in the guise of an alluring angel with his lap full of fat things, houses and lands, gold and stocks were the painted playthings of a fevered hour; honor and delicate points of feeling were swamped in the rushing sea of unrebuked selfishness and covetousness, and we rode on the highest tide of factitious prosperity. With the cessation of hostilities the financial ideas born of them did not die. To go back from a printed dollar to a gold one was too sudden and profound a fall, and our refusal to look steadily towards specie payment has brought us to a point where our legislators invite us to step into a paper balloon and float off upon a desperate voyage through the political inane There is one end to this thing and only one—signified by the ugly word—repudiation. What do our Congressional Solons suppose will be the burden of the foreign papers published in the centres where our bonds are held to the amount of hundreds of millions, in their comments upon their action? If the bondholders of the United States in Germany and England fail to be exceedingly clear in expressing their opinion about the general financial drift of this country as indicated by this vote, then we vastly overrate both their sagacity and concern for their own investments. Well, is idle to protest; when the lash of bankruptcy falls upon their backs we shall know who and what governs this world.

CURRENT TOPICS.

—Schuyler Colfax is disgusted with public life. He will not run for Congress.

—The New York Post says the first duty of the people is to suppress the Democratic party. Quite true.

—It hasn't seemed to occur to anybody in Massachusetts that she has used an unseemly haste in electing somebody to rattle around in Senator Sumner's place.

—Speaker Blaine says this is the laziest House of Representatives in his congressional memory. Nothing but talk so far, and poor talk at that.

—Gen. Burnside seems to be the coming man in Rhode Island. It is an odd feature of his address, however, that he carefully omits all reference to the administration.

—The prevailing subject of complaint among our exchanges is the high price of gas. The tendency to charge pretty high seems to be widespread and nearly universal.

—Old Zach Chandler is now "the Nestor of the Senate." Old Zach is generally known as a hard drinker, but is, outside of that, a very useful Senator.

—Sanborn, the innocent (?) cause of a great deal of bad talk lately, is in Washington and is being examined about his contracts.—Among the "puzzling" questions he is to be asked is one as to why he traveled from place to place registering himself under various assumed names.

—A member of Congress must use seven-league boots when he travels. The bills for mileage of the Forty-Second Congress were nearly $200,000, while the actual traveling expenses were $24,000. The members must take a great many excursions on branch lines when they go to the Capitol, and the horse-car lines must be very tortuous.

—The life and death of Mr. Sumner claim the attention more or less of the religious press. The Christian Union thinks that in his death the nation has lost a statesman of a type in which he had no peer. It compares him to Moses, and says that he, like the Hebrew prophet, was raised up by Providence to lead his nation out of the "house of bondage" into the "promised land" of freedom.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 24.

Mr. SHERMAN said the bill reported yesterday and now taken up was not a satisfactory one, as it was the nature of a compromise, and while it had the strength of a compromise it also had the weakness of such a measure. There was a necessity for those on each side to yield their views to some extent to others and unless they should so yield no bill could be passed. There must be some middle ground agreed upon to make the bill satisfactory to all. It only remained for the Senate now to say if this was a fair compromise, whether it would improve our currency and give the relief demanded. He then had the bill read by sections and explained the provisions of each.

Pending the discussion the Senate went into executive session and at 5:15 P. M. the doors were re-opened and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

After three hours' discussion of the Georgia contested election case the minority resolution that Rawls, the sitting member, was entitled to the seat, was rejected, yeas 77, nays 133, and the majority resolutions, declaring Sloan, the contestant, entitled to the seat, were adopted—yeas 135, nays 74. It was a purely party vote, except Banning of Ohio, Fort of Illinois and Shoemaker of Pennsylvania voted with the Democrats.

Andrew Sloan then came forward and took the modified, not the iron-clad oath.

Mr. McCRARY of Iowa, after an unsuccessful effort to have some arrangement made for taking a vote on the bill to regulate inter-state railroad commerce, gave notice that he would give the previous question on the passage of the bill at 4 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. DAWES offered a resolution giving the Committee on Ways and Means authority to send for persons and papers and administer oaths in all cases pending for examination before it from time to time. Adopted.

Mr. W. R. ROBERTS of New York said—"I am requested by the Workingmen's Committee of New York to present a memorial to the House in favor of the eight-hour law and for the removal of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury. This memorial is signed by 20,000 persons, representing the Typographical Union and various trades and laboring societies in New York city. In presenting it I desire to express my entire and full approval of the objects of the memorialists. I request that the memorial be read at the Clerk's desk and printed in the Congressional Record."

Mr. MAYNARD of Tennessee—"I object to that. Let the memorial come in under the rule."

Mr. ROBERTS—"The gentleman from Tennessee would not object if it were a memorial from the bankers and brokers of New York, but because it comes from the workingmen he objects."

Mr. MAYNARD—"The gentleman from New York measures other people's corn by his own half-bushels."

Mr. ROBERTS—"I measure that gentleman by his acts."

Mr. MAYNARD—"I have a right to object to having the memorial read in the House and printed in the Record and I insist upon my objection."

The memorial was received and ordered to be printed, but not in the Record, and was referred to the Committee on Civil Reform.

The House then proceeded to the discussion of the bill to regulate inter-state railroad commerce and Willard of Vermont made a constitutional and legal argument against the bill.

At the close of Willard's speech, which lasted an hour and a half, the House at 5:30 took a recess till half-past seven, the evening session to be devoted to the same subject.

—The daughter of a telegraph operator in the west, a child of ten years of age, has been taught to send messages by sound, and whenever her father is away the neighboring operators hear the little child's talk with her father, telling all the family news, and made droll by little blunders in orthography.

—Miss Hulett, the Chicago lawyer, looks after the interests of her clients in a way that is energetic if not according to the code. She snatched a hundred dollars from the hands of Mr. Holden, and gave it to her client, that being the amount for which she had sued. That shortening of the law's process, however, has resulted in her arrest.

—The Scientific American predicts that the time will soon come when ice will be manufactured in all our great cities at a dollar a ton. Manufactured ice at three dollars a ton has for some time been in the markets of New Orleans.

The Crescent City was owned by the Mississippi Valley Transportation Company and was valued at $70,000.

THE FINANCE QUESTION.

Great Mass Meeting in New York.

NEW YORK, March 24.—A mass meeting of business men of this city was held to-night in Cooper Institute to take action on the question of national finance. George Opdyke called the meeting to order and William Cullen Bryant presided. Resolutions were adopted protesting against any inflation of the currency and insisting that if Congress establish free banking or authorize the further issue of national bank notes, the system be based on solid foundations and guarded by stringent restrictions; that the law requiring a banking reserve of 25 per cent. be maintained and that one of its fundamental and irrevocable provisions shall be an efficient mode of redemption in coin. A letter was read from Charles Francis Adams. Edward Atkinson of Boston, S. B. Chittenden, George Opdyke and William Wood also spoke.

The Sanborn Investigation.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Sanborn was present at the meeting of the Ways and Means Committee to-day and asked that he might be heard through counsel, ex-Representative Woodbridge of Vermont. The committee denied the request, but said Mr. Woodbridge might remain in the room to give Sanborn advice if he so desired.

John D. Coughlin, a member of the New York General Assembly from the Twentieth District, testified that he had assisted Sanborn in collecting back legacy and succession taxes in New York; in fact, he had sole charge of this branch of Sanborn's business, for which he was paid 12½ per cent. of the amount collected. He performed all the work and Sanborn made 31½ cents on each dollar collected without any labor.

CONFLAGRATION IN A SHIPYARD.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—The machine shop of Cramp's ship yard in Kensington, 400 feet long and 150 wide, and costing $50,000, was burned this morning. Nearly $100,000 worth of machinery in the building was destroyed. The steamship Pennsylvania, of the American Line, undergoing repairs, was aground and narrowly escaped destruction. The donkey engine on board was got to work, and with the aid of the firemen she was saved.

Two new steam colliers at the wharf, belonging to the Reading Railroad Company, were hauled out into the stream for safety. A portion of the machine shop walls fell on the joiner's shop, crushing a part of it. Insurance $130,000, of which $7,500 is in the Home, of New York; $5,000 each in the Commerce, of New York, German American, of New York, and $2,500 each in Westchester, Star, Commercial, Rochester and German, of New York.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—By the fire in Cramp's shipyard 240 men are turned out of employment in the machine and joiner's shops. Besides the steamship Pennsylvania repairing there were at the wharf the iron-clad Nantucket repairing; the Reading Railroad collier Reading, nearly ready; the collier Harrisburg, just launched, and the colliers Allentown, Pottsville and Williamsport on the stocks. Had they been wooden vessels their destruction would have been certain.

IMPORTANT EJECTMENT SUIT.

The Corporation Counsel has brought suit of ejectment in the Supreme Court against Wm. Remsen and Henry Hart to recover to the city the grant of land under Harlem River 300 feet long along the shore line and averaging 180 feet in breadth, made to Remsen by the Sinking Fund Commissioners, and in which Hart has acquired a large interest. The Corporation Counsel believes that this and similar grants by the Sinking Fund Commissioners for a mere nominal consideration and without public sale are void. The case came before Judge Donahue to-day on a motion by the defence to dismiss the complaint. The land in question is represented to be worth $100,000 and the decision will cover conveyances by the Commissioners along the line of the Harlem River to the amount of some $6,000,000.

MISSOURI OUTLAWS.

Legislation Asked For.

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—Gov. THE WEATHER.

To-Day's Probabilities.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—It has been decided in an Ontario county court that no person except an inn-keeper has a right to sell liquor to be drank on the premises even if he has a license to do so, as the law of 1857 prohibits the granting of such a license.

—It is hinted that Sylvester, the trapeze acrobat, committed suicide, as his salary, seven dollars per week, was insufficient to support him and his mother.

—Two young girls of Detroit, Mich., were arrested a day or two since for malicious trespass in starting an unoccupied locomotive of the Lake Michigan R. R. Co., there, a year ago, by which two freight cars were demolished and the engine damaged.

—An old woman who peddles notions from a basket in Detroit fell down in a fit the other day, and one of several men who came to her assistance stole her pocketbook, containing seven or eight dollars.

And that said report also state whether there are any debts or liabilities which were created prior to the 15th day of March, 1872, and if so when such debts or liabilities were incurred, the amount thereof and for what purpose incurred, and to whom they are due. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. JOHNSON moved that a session of the Senate be held this evening, at half-past seven o'clock. Carried.

Mr. JOHNSON moved that the bill in relation to county treasurers be made the special order for this evening.

Recess until 7½ P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

The Senate in Committee of the Whole considered Assemblyman Hammond's County Treasurer bill, Thompson in the chair, and after some discussion progress was reported on the bill.

In the Senate Mr. MADDEN moved to disagree with the report and that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the bill and that it be ordered to a third reading.

Mr. WOODIN hoped the Senate would proceed to perfect the bill.

Mr. MADDEN withdrew his motion.

Mr. JOHNSON renewed it. He said parties interested in the bill had held a meeting in Albany to defeat its passage. Senators had been approached for the purpose of influencing them to vote against the bill, but he knew of no reason why the state should be allowed to pay interest on money, while County Treasurers held state moneys back.

The motion to discharge the committee from further consideration of the bill was lost and leave to the committee to sit again granted.

Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

GENERAL ORDERS.

Mr. DEANE in the chair.

Mr. CLARK in the chair.

In relation to the high school in Poughkeepsie. Third reading.

THE SUPPLY BILL.

Mr. BATCHELLER, by unanimous consent, reported the annual supply bill, and moved that it be made a special order for Wednesday evening, and that a special session be held for that purpose.

Mr. HAMMOND called attention to the fact that the House would be occupied to-morrow evening by the Committee on Grievances.

The SPEAKER stated that no order of the House had thus designated the use of the chamber.

Mr. C. S. SPENCER explained that the Committee on Grievances had appointed Wedday evening at 7½ o'clock as the time for a hearing in reference to the Tompkins Square riots. He hoped the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee would fix upon some other time so that the Committee on Grievances could use the chamber.

The SPEAKER said the Committee had no authority to thus occupy the Assembly chamber, and the question was on the motion of Mr. Batcheller.

Mr. WEED suggested that Mr. Batcheller might modify his motion so that the special session begin at 7 o'clock and continue until 8 o'clock, when the chamber could be surrendered to the Committee on Grievances.

Mr. BATCHELLER accepted the suggestion, and modified his motion accordingly, when it was carried.

Also, for the better protection of life and limb of persons employed in mechanical pursuits.

EVENING SESSION.

The House reassembled at 7:30 P. M. and took up in Committee of the Whole the bill to secure to all children an elementary education, being the compulsory education bill.

Mr. BOSTWICK advocated the bill, presenting a large amount of statistics to show how greatly the education of children is neglected by parents and insisting that it is not only within the just power of the state but is its duty to coerce the parents into sending their children to school.

Messrs. LYNDE, BEECHER, PETTY and EASTMAN also sustained the bill.

Mr. PRINCE said while he was in favor of the general principle of the bill he thought it needed considerable toning down; for instance there should be a provision that in case children cannot attend a school in the day time, evening schools should be provided.

The committee then arose and reported progress.

The following bills were considered in Committee of the Whole and ordered to a third reading:

To amend the charter of Rochester.

To amend the charter of Newburgh.

—A queer trick obtains among San Francisco artists, to-wit: Copying chromos of scenery in the Eastern states and dubbing them with California titles; for instance, selling a copy of Esopus Creek, New York, as a study from nature of Napa Creek, California.

—Matteawan sports are very high-toned. They have chicken disputes with stolen roosters as the principal combatants.

Kingston, Wednesday Morning, March 25.

Now that the scientists have gone down to Bald Mountain we may expect an eruption of learned talk as to the why and wherefore of the big noise which in comparison with it will be as a cannon to a pop gun. If the earthquake don't convert all the natives the professors will probably drive them crazy.

"The bleak winds of March

and we don't wonder at it; they have the same effect on ladies better clad than the poor unfortunate of Hood's Bridge of Sighs, and on many a gentleman with a thicker overcoat than the poet himself wore.

The annual supply bill has been reported in the Assembly and contains the following among the other principal appropriations: Poughkeepsie Insane Asylum, $140,000, to complete and furnish the wing now commenced, so as to receive patients; Middletown Homœopathic Insane Asylum, $117,000, to complete the building for the reception of patients. These appropriations will doubtless arouse some opposition, but on the general principle that it is best to complete a public work once begun, if for no other reason, they ought to be passed.

Wagner's Lohengrin had an enthusiastic reception in New York. It forms a new era in the history of operas in that city, as indeed of operas anywhere. The old habitues were not a little bewildered and unable to make up their minds as to whether they liked it or not. We think they will conclude that Wagner has done something absolutely novel in music and brought out ideas that are fresh and true from a mine from which nothing original was expected. We guess that future critics will speak of the daring German composer, not as the renovator of the opera, but as the founder of a new art. Time will tell.

Our moderate friend, Dr. Crosby, has drawn the vigorous fire of the total abstinence men, as we supposed he would. And he will get the worst of the battle, for he has assumed a position in reference to the temperance question which has grown less and less defensible as its vital bearings have become more clearly revealed. If it is wrong to drink liquor it is wrong to drink liquor, and no verbal juggling will ever make it anything else. The best thing the Doctor can do is either to recant his decanter notions or bow himself out of the argument with the quietest grace he can.

John Bull is slowly becoming convinced that we do "'ave some thing 'ere as good as we 'ave at 'ome." He has not been for centuries approachable with a proposition looking to the overthrow of his traditional belief that what isn't done in England and by Englishmen cannot be done at all. The Pullman palace car is, however, rolling its noiseless way into his favorable regard. With the perfect road-beds of the British railways, and Pullman's sumptuous and splendidly-arranged running upon them the acme of comfort will be reached in traveling by rail. Come, old friend of the common language, mark one to our credit.

We don't like Matt Morgan any the better for having painted his picture of the death bed of Senator Sumner for exhibition in Barnum's big gaslight show. There is a certain coarseness in the thought or project itself which we think will be deprecated by fine minds, besides the crudity which must eminently characterize the picture considered as a work of art. We protest against the haste with which the American mind accepts every prominent event as the basis of a possible speculation or of a cheap sensation. Let us trust Mr. Morgan will confine his pencil to subjects which will add to his reputation without shocking the taste and good sense of his friends.

Mr. Pierce's resolution introduced in the House to prevent "unprincipled persons" meddling with the congressional telegraph instruments couldn't have referred to Butler, for the invincible Ben is a man of more principles, and a greater variety of principles, than any other man in America. Besides he never sends a private dispatch unless it has some kind of bearing upon public interests. Truth to say, Butler can scarcely be said to possess any strictly private concerns at all; his ends and aims all having more or less connection with the country in whose behalf he drew his sword and whose treasures he identifies with his own. Therefore, we say, the resolution must have been drawn without any intention to reflect on the one man who deserves everything else except that.

The Inflation Vote.

If the House vote fixing the volume of the currency at $400,000,000 means anything it means that the country is to be cut loose from all immediate hope of possessing a standard for any kind of value. Two or three years from now we shall probably have arrived at a point where we shall be able to decide just how disastrous to the prosperity of the nation the action of the House on Monday was. It is entirely useless to show how stupid, or rather how besotted and mad our representatives seem to have been. The question of unlimited paper money as against an amount easily controllable, resting closely upon a gold basis, has been discussed and illustrated to a degree which, if it has left anybody unconvinced, has left no argument by which to convince him. It is too late to talk; the day for that has passed, and the beginning of the end has come. There's hardly a doubt that the Senate will concur, and thus consummate the inflation insanity against which the sober, clear-headed business men of the country have been protesting for months. There are only two courses, one of which must inevitably be followed by Congress after its recent action: The first is to repeal the bill and undo as far as possible its certain effects; the second is to keep on until the notes of the United States have become the laughing stock of the civilized world. To hope for repeal is the hope deferred which maketh the heart sick. How difficult it is to take the back track at any time is not a new thought to any one who has tried to reverse the habits which years have strengthened and established in his personal character; and what is easy comparatively for a single individual is hard for a whole people. The fact is, the success of the inflation scheme is one of the many wretched results of the demoralization which has gone on in this country, especially for the last fifteen years. The mania for money has driven economy and contentment in simple things out of the heads of the people. Every man who is sufficiently intelligent to have an ambition wants to be rich and to get rich suddenly. The war turned all our old ideas and estimates of affairs upside down. We lived in a whirl of abnormal excitement; the printing presses shed floods of crisp greenbacks at our feet. With a life-and-death struggle with the South upon our hands whose cost was millions per day, we never paid private debts so easily. Speculation stalked through the land in the guise of an alluring angel with his lap full of fat things, houses and lands, gold and stocks were the painted playthings of a fevered hour; honor and delicate points of feeling were swamped in the rushing sea of unrebuked selfishness and covetousness, and we rode on the highest tide of factitious prosperity. With the cessation of hostilities the financial ideas born of them did not die. To go back from a printed dollar to a gold one was too sudden and profound a fall, and our refusal to look steadily towards specie payment has brought us to a point where our legislators invite us to step into a paper balloon and float off upon a desperate voyage through the political inane There is one end to this thing and only one—signified by the ugly word—repudiation. What do our Congressional Solons suppose will be the burden of the foreign papers published in the centres where our bonds are held to the amount of hundreds of millions, in their comments upon their action? If the bondholders of the United States in Germany and England fail to be exceedingly clear in expressing their opinion about the general financial drift of this country as indicated by this vote, then we vastly overrate both their sagacity and concern for their own investments. Well, is idle to protest; when the lash of bankruptcy falls upon their backs we shall know who and what governs this world.

CURRENT TOPICS.

—Schuyler Colfax is disgusted with public life. He will not run for Congress.

—The New York Post says the first duty of the people is to suppress the Democratic party. Quite true.

—The World takes a little unnecessary trouble in kicking the Liberals out of the Democratic party.

—Is it possible $2,000,000 is to be appropriated for the improvement of the Long Branch coast?

—Thurlow Weed and Governor Dix are working hard to secure the Senatorship for Ex-Gov. Morgan.

—The Temperance movement has received unexpected aid. Eli Perkins has commenced ridiculing it.

—It hasn't seemed to occur to anybody in Massachusetts that she has used an unseemly haste in electing somebody to rattle around in Senator Sumner's place.

—Speaker Blaine says this is the laziest House of Representatives in his congressional memory. Nothing but talk so far, and poor talk at that.

—Gen. Burnside seems to be the coming man in Rhode Island. It is an odd feature of his address, however, that he carefully omits all reference to the administration.

—The prevailing subject of complaint among our exchanges is the high price of gas. The tendency to charge pretty high seems to be widespread and nearly universal.

—Old Zach Chandler is now "the Nestor of the Senate." Old Zach is generally known as a hard drinker, but is, outside of that, a very useful Senator.

—Sanborn, the innocent (?) cause of a great deal of bad talk lately, is in Washington and is being examined about his contracts.—Among the "puzzling" questions he is to be asked is one as to why he traveled from place to place registering himself under various assumed names.

—A member of Congress must use seven-league boots when he travels. The bills for mileage of the Forty-Second Congress were nearly $200,000, while the actual traveling expenses were $24,000. The members must take a great many excursions on branch lines when they go to the Capitol, and the horse-car lines must be very tortuous.

—The life and death of Mr. Sumner claim the attention more or less of the religious press. The Christian Union thinks that in his death the nation has lost a statesman of a type in which he had no peer. It compares him to Moses, and says that he, like the Hebrew prophet, was raised up by Providence to lead his nation out of the "house of bondage" into the "promised land" of freedom.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 24.

Mr. SHERMAN said the bill reported yesterday and now taken up was not a satisfactory one, as it was the nature of a compromise, and while it had the strength of a compromise it also had the weakness of such a measure. There was a necessity for those on each side to yield their views to some extent to others and unless they should so yield no bill could be passed. There must be some middle ground agreed upon to make the bill satisfactory to all. It only remained for the Senate now to say if this was a fair compromise, whether it would improve our currency and give the relief demanded. He then had the bill read by sections and explained the provisions of each.

Pending the discussion the Senate went into executive session and at 5:15 P. M. the doors were re-opened and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

After three hours' discussion of the Georgia contested election case the minority resolution that Rawls, the sitting member, was entitled to the seat, was rejected, yeas 77, nays 133, and the majority resolutions, declaring Sloan, the contestant, entitled to the seat, were adopted—yeas 135, nays 74. It was a purely party vote, except Banning of Ohio, Fort of Illinois and Shoemaker of Pennsylvania voted with the Democrats.

Andrew Sloan then came forward and took the modified, not the iron-clad oath.

Mr. McCRARY of Iowa, after an unsuccessful effort to have some arrangement made for taking a vote on the bill to regulate inter-state railroad commerce, gave notice that he would give the previous question on the passage of the bill at 4 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. DAWES offered a resolution giving the Committee on Ways and Means authority to send for persons and papers and administer oaths in all cases pending for examination before it from time to time. Adopted.

Mr. W. R. ROBERTS of New York said—"I am requested by the Workingmen's Committee of New York to present a memorial to the House in favor of the eight-hour law and for the removal of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury. This memorial is signed by 20,000 persons, representing the Typographical Union and various trades and laboring societies in New York city. In presenting it I desire to express my entire and full approval of the objects of the memorialists. I request that the memorial be read at the Clerk's desk and printed in the Congressional Record."

Mr. MAYNARD of Tennessee—"I object to that. Let the memorial come in under the rule."

Mr. ROBERTS—"The gentleman from Tennessee would not object if it were a memorial from the bankers and brokers of New York, but because it comes from the workingmen he objects."

Mr. MAYNARD—"The gentleman from New York measures other people's corn by his own half-bushels."

Mr. ROBERTS—"I measure that gentleman by his acts."

Mr. MAYNARD—"I have a right to object to having the memorial read in the House and printed in the Record and I insist upon my objection."

The memorial was received and ordered to be printed, but not in the Record, and was referred to the Committee on Civil Reform.

The House then proceeded to the discussion of the bill to regulate inter-state railroad commerce and Willard of Vermont made a constitutional and legal argument against the bill.

At the close of Willard's speech, which lasted an hour and a half, the House at 5:30 took a recess till half-past seven, the evening session to be devoted to the same subject.

—The daughter of a telegraph operator in the west, a child of ten years of age, has been taught to send messages by sound, and whenever her father is away the neighboring operators hear the little child's talk with her father, telling all the family news, and made droll by little blunders in orthography.

—Miss Hulett, the Chicago lawyer, looks after the interests of her clients in a way that is energetic if not according to the code. She snatched a hundred dollars from the hands of Mr. Holden, and gave it to her client, that being the amount for which she had sued. That shortening of the law's process, however, has resulted in her arrest.

—The Scientific American predicts that the time will soon come when ice will be manufactured in all our great cities at a dollar a ton. Manufactured ice at three dollars a ton has for some time been in the markets of New Orleans.

MEMPHIS, March 24.—A special dispatch to the Appeal from Helena, Ark., to-day says: The towboat Crescent City, from New Orleans for St. Louis, having in tow five freight barges, one fuel barge and a trading boat laden with thirteen tons of sugar, blew up at 8:30 A. M. to-day at the foot of Montezuma Island, ten miles below here. The boat was blown into atoms and sank in three minutes. The barges were all consumed. The following is a list of the lost: James Dawson, captain; Henry Gessler, mate; John Ostrander, pilot, and wife; Wm. Mundy, pilot; Dan Metle, watchman; cabin boy, name unknown, and three colored firemen.

The wounded are as follows: George Van Houton, pilot, leg dislocated; Patrick Bacon, second engineer, bruised; Wm. The remainder of the crew are with them, rendering all the assistance they can. The Phil Allen arrived at the scene a few moments after the explosion and rendered every assistance in its power. The Crescent City was owned by the Mississippi Valley Transportation Company and was valued at $70,000.

THE FINANCE QUESTION.

Great Mass Meeting in New York.

NEW YORK, March 24.—A mass meeting of business men of this city was held to-night in Cooper Institute to take action on the question of national finance. George Opdyke called the meeting to order and William Cullen Bryant presided. Resolutions were adopted protesting against any inflation of the currency and insisting that if Congress establish free banking or authorize the further issue of national bank notes, the system be based on solid foundations and guarded by stringent restrictions; that the law requiring a banking reserve of 25 per cent. be maintained and that one of its fundamental and irrevocable provisions shall be an efficient mode of redemption in coin. A letter was read from Charles Francis Adams. Edward Atkinson of Boston, S. B. Chittenden, George Opdyke and William Wood also spoke.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The Sanborn Investigation.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Sanborn was present at the meeting of the Ways and Means Committee to-day and asked that he might be heard through counsel, ex-Representative Woodbridge of Vermont. The committee denied the request, but said Mr. Woodbridge might remain in the room to give Sanborn advice if he so desired.

John D. Coughlin, a member of the New York General Assembly from the Twentieth District, testified that he had assisted Sanborn in collecting back legacy and succession taxes in New York; in fact, he had sole charge of this branch of Sanborn's business, for which he was paid 12½ per cent. of the amount collected. He performed all the work and Sanborn made 31½ cents on each dollar collected without any labor.

One farmer lost seventeen cows. The loss was about $150,000.

CONFLAGRATION IN A SHIPYARD.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—The machine shop of Cramp's ship yard in Kensington, 400 feet long and 150 wide, and costing $50,000, was burned this morning. Nearly $100,000 worth of machinery in the building was destroyed. The steamship Pennsylvania, of the American Line, undergoing repairs, was aground and narrowly escaped destruction. The donkey engine on board was got to work, and with the aid of the firemen she was saved.

Two new steam colliers at the wharf, belonging to the Reading Railroad Company, were hauled out into the stream for safety. A portion of the machine shop walls fell on the joiner's shop, crushing a part of it. Insurance $130,000, of which $7,500 is in the Home, of New York; $5,000 each in the Commerce, of New York, German American, of New York, and $2,500 each in Westchester, Star, Commercial, Rochester and German, of New York.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—By the fire in Cramp's shipyard 240 men are turned out of employment in the machine and joiner's shops. Besides the steamship Pennsylvania repairing there were at the wharf the iron-clad Nantucket repairing; the Reading Railroad collier Reading, nearly ready; the collier Harrisburg, just launched, and the colliers Allentown, Pottsville and Williamsport on the stocks. Had they been wooden vessels their destruction would have been certain.

Elmore $10,000; Wolf Bush $35,000; S. B. Hubbel $30,000; W. March $2,800; Benjamin estate $20,000; S. Etz & Co. $1,800; R. Pagen $500; Dr. Marple $2,000; Givens & Mowry $7,000; Humphrey & Co. $4,000; Stevens & Steele $5,000; J. Davidson $7,000; Edgerly $1,000; V. B. Read $8,000; F. A. Stowell & Co. $10,000; Elmira Water Works $1,500; Reyan & Toole $2,000; W. Brach $16,000; M. Deveon $4,000; E. Shidlen $19,000; Hart & Arnot $4,000; Arnot estate $7,000; B. Dempsey $10,000; J. Gilmore $2,000; E. Ryan $2,000; J. M. Buckley $3,000; E. Frauenstein $1,000; and many other smaller losses, aggregating $260,000. The total insurance is $152,200, principally in London, Liverpool Globe, Hanover, Hartford, North American, Ætna, Amazon, Phœnix, Franklin and Germania companies. Many families are rendered homeless and many lose everything, as the spread of the fire was so rapid as to preclude all possibility of saving goods.

DESTRUCTION OF A LARGE MUSIC STORE.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

The Jersey City Abortion Case.

NEW YORK, March 24.—In the Hudson County Court, Jersey City, this morning, Alonzo E. Kimball was placed on trial the second time for complicity in the death of Ida W. Vail, a victim of malpractice. Mrs. Metzler, already convicted, is the principal witness against the accused.

IMPORTANT EJECTMENT SUIT.

The Corporation Counsel has brought suit of ejectment in the Supreme Court against Wm. Remsen and Henry Hart to recover to the city the grant of land under Harlem River 300 feet long along the shore line and averaging 180 feet in breadth, made to Remsen by the Sinking Fund Commissioners, and in which Hart has acquired a large interest. The Corporation Counsel believes that this and similar grants by the Sinking Fund Commissioners for a mere nominal consideration and without public sale are void. The case came before Judge Donahue to-day on a motion by the defence to dismiss the complaint. The land in question is represented to be worth $100,000 and the decision will cover conveyances by the Commissioners along the line of the Harlem River to the amount of some $6,000,000.

MISSOURI OUTLAWS.

Legislation Asked For.

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—Gov. Woodson sent a message to the Legislature yesterday, calling attention to the fact that a band of outlaws exist in this state who rob and murder with impunity; that he has no adequate power or means to bring the desperadoes to justice and asking that proper legislation be had at once.

THE WEATHER.

To-Day's Probabilities.

For the Middle and Eastern states northwesterly winds, slowly rising temperature, falling barometer and generally clear weather.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—It has been decided in an Ontario county court that no person except an inn-keeper has a right to sell liquor to be drank on the premises even if he has a license to do so, as the law of 1857 prohibits the granting of such a license.

—It is hinted that Sylvester, the trapeze acrobat, committed suicide, as his salary, seven dollars per week, was insufficient to support him and his mother.

—Two young girls of Detroit, Mich., were arrested a day or two since for malicious trespass in starting an unoccupied locomotive of the Lake Michigan R. R. Co., there, a year ago, by which two freight cars were demolished and the engine damaged.

—An old woman who peddles notions from a basket in Detroit fell down in a fit the other day, and one of several men who came to her assistance stole her pocketbook, containing seven or eight dollars.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. LOWERY offered the following:

Resolved, That the trustees of the State Homœopathic Asylum for the Insane, at Middletown, within ten days make to the Legislature a detailed statement of all receipts and expenditures, debts and liabilities of said institution during the last fiscal year thereof, and a full and accurate statement of the financial condition thereof at the date of such report, as required to do by Chapter 643 of the Laws of 1873. And that said report also state whether there are any debts or liabilities which were created prior to the 15th day of March, 1872, and if so when such debts or liabilities were incurred, the amount thereof and for what purpose incurred, and to whom they are due. Also the amount and number, and by whom made, of any private subscriptions for the benefit of said asylum, prior to the last named date, which yet remain unpaid.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. JOHNSON moved that a session of the Senate be held this evening, at half-past seven o'clock. Carried.

Mr. JOHNSON moved that the bill in relation to county treasurers be made the special order for this evening.

Recess until 7½ P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

The Senate in Committee of the Whole considered Assemblyman Hammond's County Treasurer bill, Thompson in the chair, and after some discussion progress was reported on the bill.

In the Senate Mr. MADDEN moved to disagree with the report and that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the bill and that it be ordered to a third reading.

Mr. WOODIN hoped the Senate would proceed to perfect the bill.

Mr. MADDEN withdrew his motion.

Mr. JOHNSON renewed it. He said parties interested in the bill had held a meeting in Albany to defeat its passage. Senators had been approached for the purpose of influencing them to vote against the bill, but he knew of no reason why the state should be allowed to pay interest on money, while County Treasurers held state moneys back.

The motion to discharge the committee from further consideration of the bill was lost and leave to the committee to sit again granted.

Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

GENERAL ORDERS.

Mr. DEANE in the chair.

Amending act altering the system of repairing highways. Third reading.

Mr. CLARK in the chair.

In relation to the high school in Poughkeepsie. Third reading.

Providing for the care of Washington's Headquarters in the city of Newburgh. Third reading.

THE SUPPLY BILL.

Mr. BATCHELLER, by unanimous consent, reported the annual supply bill, and moved that it be made a special order for Wednesday evening, and that a special session be held for that purpose.

Mr. HAMMOND called attention to the fact that the House would be occupied to-morrow evening by the Committee on Grievances.

The SPEAKER stated that no order of the House had thus designated the use of the chamber.

Mr. C. S. SPENCER explained that the Committee on Grievances had appointed Wedday evening at 7½ o'clock as the time for a hearing in reference to the Tompkins Square riots. He hoped the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee would fix upon some other time so that the Committee on Grievances could use the chamber.

The SPEAKER said the Committee had no authority to thus occupy the Assembly chamber, and the question was on the motion of Mr. Batcheller.

Mr. WEED suggested that Mr. Batcheller might modify his motion so that the special session begin at 7 o'clock and continue until 8 o'clock, when the chamber could be surrendered to the Committee on Grievances.

Mr. BATCHELLER accepted the suggestion, and modified his motion accordingly, when it was carried.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. ALBERGER, to amend the manufacturing law.

Mr. TOWNSEND, authorizing the formation of agricultural associations for mutual protection against fire and lightning.

Mr. LOCKWOOD, in relation to the collection of taxes in Catskill.

Mr. BIGLIN, to amend the act relative to immigrants.

Mr. BEEBE, to repeal the charter of the Monticello and White Lake Turnpike Company.

Also, for an additional Justice in Sullivan county.

Mr. HAZELTON, for the equalization of taxation of bonds and mortgages.

Mr. HOAG, relative to the equalization and assessment of taxes.

Mr. FARRER, to amend the revised statutes relative to clerks' fees. Also to amend the code of procedure.

Mr. BADGER, for consideration, amending several acts in relation to state prisons. Recommitted.

Mr. WEST, amending act for the formation of a company for the erection of buildings.

Also, for consideration, amending acts in relation to the inspection of steam boilers.

Recess until 6½ P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

The House reassembled at 7:30 P. M. and took up in Committee of the Whole the bill to secure to all children an elementary education, being the compulsory education bill.

Mr. BOSTWICK advocated the bill, presenting a large amount of statistics to show how greatly the education of children is neglected by parents and insisting that it is not only within the just power of the state but is its duty to coerce the parents into sending their children to school.

Messrs. LYNDE, BEECHER, PETTY and EASTMAN also sustained the bill.

Mr. PRINCE said while he was in favor of the general principle of the bill he thought it needed considerable toning down; for instance there should be a provision that in case children cannot attend a school in the day time, evening schools should be provided.

The committee then arose and reported progress.

The following bills were considered in Committee of the Whole and ordered to a third reading:

To amend the charter of Rochester.

To amend the charter of Newburgh.

Adjourned.

—It is said that an experienced and retired burglar, at present residing in this city, is shortly about to appear on the lyceum platform with a lecture, in which the mysteries of the housebreakers' profession will be fully set forth.—N. Y. World.

CITY NOTES.

—There is one good thing about this cold, windy weather—it drives the corner loafers from the streets.

—The Canal Company expects to bring more coal into Rondout this season than ever before.

—A team ran away through John street Tuesday morning and uprooted several posts, but without seriously injuring any one.

—The temperance division uptown initiated a number of brand-new members Monday night. Let the good cause progress.

—"Good sap weatner this," said an awful man to us on Tuesday; "this is my second handkerchief to-day and it isn't noon yet."

—There was ice along the shores of the creek on Tuesday morning, and weatherwise old prophets say we are to have one more snow storm. Oh, give us a brick.

—Casper has been refitting his barber shop—new paint and paper—and now it appears bright, but it isn't a bit dearer than usual—it couldn't be, you know.

—There is getting to be a large pile of bricks on the Lutheran Church's new lot out of which will grow a handsome new church with school rooms beneath.

—That man who was going to plow his garden patch on Tuesday called at the livery stable and countermanded the order for a team.

—We saw a man chase his hat two blocks on Tuesday forenoon without uttering a forcible remark, and we set him down as being, like Deacon Smith, "a truly good man."

—The railroad track on Division street from Mill to Ferry street on Tuesday morning was filled with ice, and the cars ran off the track, while the horses had great difficulty in keeping on their feet.

—John R. Stebbins & Co. have a lot of American ensigns for sale, and they are the regulation dimensions, and beautiful flags withal. We'll bet a dead marine they were made at some navy yard—we twig the style.

—An unattended mule while solemnly strolling on Union street on Tuesday afternoon was rushed at by a dog. That dog got suddenly elevated and we are not certain it has come down yet.

—The reason why Cornell Hose Company wasn't better represented at the fire on Monday is because white cotton gloves have been ordered as uniform until November 1st, and the weather was too cold to make them comfortable.

—An ex-warrior brought three battle-tried blades, one formerly belonging to a rebel officer, into the sanctum of The Freeman, whereupon one chap inquires "What're you going to do with them?" "Oh, chop off a few feet of your ear," was the tender rejoinder.

—The days of our youth were brought to mind by seeing two youngsters with breeches rolled up to their thighs out on the flats "bullheadin'" on Tuesday. Oh, the excruciating ecstasy of having a bull-head's horn thrust in the bottom of your foot! Gimme a piece of fat salt pork.

—The grapevine in rear of the Cloonan house on Division street where the fire was on Tuesday morning, presented a strange and beautiful appearance. The spray from the streams thrown by the fire engines had fallen on the vine and become frozen, causing it to appear like a net-work of silver when the sun shone on it.

—A benzinist from the country came driving up John street with a tremendous splurge Monday; then he stopped, fell out on the sidewalk, taking the wagon seat with him, went in a saloon, took a drink, got in his wagon, when the seat again tipped, and both the seat and the tipsy chap came down with a crash together. It was a wonder he wasn't killed, considering the stone walk is not the safest place on which a man can fall—but who ever heard of a drunken man getting his neck broken?

—The streets are so dry uptown, the dust is as great an inconvenience as the mud has been. When the wind blows, which it has for the past day or two at a great rate, the air is so filled with dirt a person can hardly see. It has no effect, however, to keep the ladies within doors, and after they have been on the street for a half hour one can readily imagine the principal ingredient of their heavenly forms must necessarily be—dirt.

The Concert this Evening.

We hope the earnest efforts of the Rondout Presbyterian ladies to provide a delightful entertainment this evening will be sufficiently appreciated to call out a full audience in the new and beautiful church. The artistes engaged for the organ and vocal concert are so well and favorably known that we feel impelled only to add to the fulsome praise they have received from other sources the remark that Mr. Whitney is considered one of the first organists in Boston, that musical centre, while Mrs. Spring and Mrs. Carter have reputations gained by singing before the best and most critical classes in our largest cities. The programme is a rarely attractive one, and we may promise in behalf of the ladies a musical entertainment such as is seldom given here.

Of course the good people who attend the concert will not fail to step in and look at the ladies' restaurant in the chapel. When they see it they can go away without indulging their appetites, of course, if they wish to, but we rather imagine a look at those good things—and the ladies—will capture them.

Narrow Escape of a Small Boy.

One of the small boys who inhabit East Front street, was almost scared out of his wits Tuesday by a scissors grinder. It seems a number of boys took hold of the gentleman's machine while the owner was absent, thinking they could operate it, and when the grinder returned he caught hold of one of the party by a tippet tied around his neck and carried him by this choking apparatus for some distance. When the small boy was released he was duly carried to his ma. It is safe to say small boys will give a scissors grinder plenty of lee way in the future.

Man Overboard.

While a chap was walking over the trestle-work of the railroad near Higginsville, a heavy blast of wind came and blew him overboard. He fell in the pond below with a great splash, and then paddled to the shore. He wasn't hurt any, but he was awfully wet.

Recorder's Court.

The business of this court is becoming more dull each month, so in time there seems to be some prospect that it will be a sort of nonentity in our city government. Since our last record of proceedings, which was, if we remember aright, some little time ago, there has been a few cases before the court, which we now transcribe for the sake of the public.

Albert Sickle was arrested on the complaint of James McCabe, that Sickle, who is one of the small boys in the lower part of the city, had spit in the face of his worthy spouse, Elizabeth McCabe. The urchin plead vociferously in answer that he was not guilty. He did spit. Yes, as a prisoner even he admitted that, but wasn't it the high right of every American citizen to spit—to throw from the mouth the saliva that nature has ordained shall accumulate on the glands of the mouth of a free republican and voter of this state? We don't mean the prisoner actually said this, we only wish it understood he must have thought something of the kind when hauled up before the high dignity of a city magistrate, may be by some new-born official who had devoured the weed with the munificence of a prince, and spat at intervals whenever he wished! Yes, he spit, not at anyone with malice prepense, to ornament the fair cheek of the lady with the ingredient, but he spit generally, in a sort of miscellaneous manner as he was walking along the street, and rude Boreas wafted the crystallized liquid to the face of the fair one. So thought the Recorder, no doubt, for he immediately discharged the youth with the admonition, "Depart young man; go home, but hereafter spit with deliberation, and with that discrimination and power of judgment every spitter should be possessed of."

The next case upon the calendar was The People vs. Charles Meyer. The prisoner was brought into court charged with a breach of the peace by his wife Henrietta. He gave bail.

Alfred Crook was arrested, charged with having committed that very indefinite crime, "disorderly conduct," which in his case meant being put out of Joseph Markle's saloon, getting very wroth thereat and putting his foot through a panel of the door. He was fined the very definite sum of $5, which he paid.

Hannah Hinckley, a remnant of that almost extinct race called Amazons, next came before the court, also charged with having been disorderly. This disorderly crime, however, was different from that of the other, inasmuch as it was strictly feminine. She was only mellow—and that means drunk. This, though a crime under that highly comprehensive phrase "disorderly," when the offender is a woman, is not usually considered anything worse than an "indiscretion" on the part of the male sex. The prisoner was told to go and sin no more. She went.

Owen Melia next came to the front charged with having committed an assault and battery on Lawrence Sutton. These gentlemen, it seems, were enjoying the pleasures of celebrating St. Patrick's Day, and necessarily became somewhat loaded—or perhaps exuberant would apply as well—and while under this excess of emotion, Owen gently prostrated Lawrence in the mud, then rolled him over and urged him to get up with the pleasant stimulus of a baste in the ribs with the toe of his boot. He gave bail.

The Creek Boats.

The season of navigation is fairly opened by the arrival last night of the steamer Thomas Cornell of the six o'clock line between this city and New York. An early season of navigation has already been inaugurated, and although business is not as lively and prosperous as might be desired, the prospects are that as soon as the canal is opened and all the vessels now in preparation are got in readiness, there will be no cause for complaint in this direction. The Cornell, as also the James W. Baldwin, has been newly painted and extensively repaired, having had $9,000 laid out on engine and hull, to say nothing of furniture and etceteras. Capt. David Abbey is in command, of course, with Capt. W. H. Cornell as his first officer. Messrs. Henry Marsh and Louis Shultz are the able and faithful men at the wheel, while Chief Engineer Thomas Purdy, with his son Nathan (a chip off the old block) for an assistant, preside over the motive power. Mr. Charles Tillou, who was steward last season, fills the position of freight clerk, and Len Perry, a new man, is messenger. The steward, whose name we did not learn, is also a new man on the route, but an accomplished caterer, having sailed in deep-water steamers. Kate Johnson will be found in the saloons as usual, as merry as a cricket; and last, though by no means least, Andrew Ten Broeck, with a corps of able assistants, presides over the galley, from whence come the good things. The boats of the six o'clock line are as sumptuously fitted and as well officered as any steamers that float and will no doubt enter upon the coming season with the fullest confidence of the traveling public.

The Cornell arrived at her wharf in this city this morning, bringing a full passenger list and a very large freight. The James W. Baldwin leaves New York to-day at the usual hour, 4 o'clock, from the old pier foot of Harrison street. A prosperous season to both of them.

Woman's Work.

One of the most interesting features of woman's work uptown is a sewing school established by the Misses Forsyth, Miss Van Leaven, Mrs. Hardenbergh and one or two others. At this school the children of poor parents are taught to sew. The ladies first buy the cloth and cut it out with their own hands, then teach the little one how to make the garment. After it is finished the child is made a present of it, thus giving them another incentive to work, besides that of learning the trade. This school was at first held at the residence of one of the ladies, but soon increased so it had to be held at School No. 11 instead. Here on Saturday of each week these good women assemble their school, and labor faithfully to educate the little ones in that branch of woman's work that will make them, when they grow older, to be women of industrious habits, and be a help instead of a burden to society. There are several societies for the help of the poor in this city, such as the Discipline Society, and the Ladies' Aid or Dorcas Society; but though these societies do a great deal of good, yet they will never, perhaps, be of such substantial benefit to the coming generation as this sewing school. And these ladies who do their work, often a most thankless task, modestly and quietly, without parade, should ever be honored among us as true Christian women. May other women, those butterflys, or maybe gad-flys of the community, read this article, and go and do likewise. Let a school of this kind be formed in every school house in this city, and though the seed may not always fall upon good soil, or bring forth fruit an hundred fold, it will yet bear that which will have a marked effect on the future life of these girls, and upon the coming woman as well.

Round Robin Hood's Barn.

The Newburgh Journal of Monday evening says: "The barge Blanchard, from New York, loaded with two thousand barrels of sugar consigned to Chicago, arrived here yesterday, the freight being sent this way on account of the strike of the Erie hands at Jersey City. The freight was put on board the cars here and started westward at noon. During the work of transferring one of the laborers was hurt, by being caught between two cars, but not seriously injured."

Mrs. Caster denies that the row on Friday evening commenced in her house, but says it was started by George Von Beck and his companions in O'Pray's hotel, the story about its originating in her place having been gotten up to damage its reputation.

The Lumber Season.

The lumber season has opened and the lumber merchants have moved from their city offices where they have been hibernating to their offices in the lumber district. A new and busy life again springs up where for several months perfect quiet and stagnation have reigned.

There is a large supply of lumber in the district, as the depressed condition of trade, due to the panic, interfered with sales to a large extent in the fall. The past winter has not been a particularly active one in the manufacturing regions of Michigan and Canada, and lumber is held at stiff prices. There will, of course, be a full supply, but from the present out-look, buyers can hardly expect much concession from holders. As business revives and the labor question becomes more settled the demand will increase rapidly and it is probable that those dealers from New York and the east who make their purchases earliest will show the most wisdom. The wicked waste of lumber that has been going on for so many years in the pineries has already raised the price of this indispensable material and will eventually cause it to become enormously dear. The pine forests are of limited extent, and as it takes several hundred years for a pine forest to grow, we can look forward to the time when a wooden house will be a luxury.—Albany Times.

New Remedy for Fits.

According to our latest dispatches, one of the most enlightened communities in this county must be that of Shokan. A few nights ago a number of benzinists assembled together in East Shokan to celebrate the temperance movement, no doubt, and at the same time see who could guzzle the largest amount of genuine poison and keep his heels to the ground. During the debauch one of the party fell into a fit, which came very near frightening the rest sober. One of their number, however, had a remedy. This chap it seems is versed in the art of necromacy, and declared by the powers of witchcraft and the laws of magic that the gentleman with fits must be stood on his head, and the sole of his right foot tickled with the finger nail of the forefinger of the left hand. We think that was it, though it might have been to apply the nail of the middle finger of the right hand to the sole of the left foot. We are quite certain it was one or the other at any rate. Whether the poor unfortunate has survived this doubling up process we cannot say, but should suppose it must have given his body a terrible racking.

Fire Department Elections.

The following is the result of the election for Chief and Assistant Engineers of the Eastern Department, held yesterday: For Chief Engineer—George Weber 203; Anthony Gallagher 33. First Assistant—R. Mooney 231; L. Eppenstein 1; J. P. Derrenbacher 1; C. C. More 1; blank 2. Second Assistant—Stephen G. Canfield 235; blank 1.

At the election in the Western Fire Department the following officers were elected:—Chief Engineer, Moses T. Newkirk; First Assistant, Peter E. Hommel; Second Assistant, George Lowery; Secretary, James Oliver; Treasurer, Henry Pitts. There were cast 217 votes

A New Move in the Temperance Crusade.

A number of the young ladies of Ellenville belonging to the Temperance Division have determined not to attend any more sociables if held at places where liquor is sold, believing that such action is necessary to a proper carrying out of their principles. In consequence of this determination, a ball which was advertised to come off at one of the hotels in that village on Friday of this week, at which Professor Abrams of this place had engaged to furnish the music, has been given up. A ball-room without the presence of the fair sex would be a dismal place indeed.—Middletown Press.

Weather.

It is quite evident winter does not intend to leave us without an additional evidence of its frigidity. Sunday evening the temperature was quite agreeable, and up to 10 o'clock there were no indications of the change which occurred during the night. Before midnight, however, it "blew great guns" and the mercury took a tumble. All night the wind howled in the most uproarious manner. On Monday the weather was of a most wintry character, as it was on Tuesday. The Catskils were frequently whitened by snow flurries; the wind was exceedingly high and the dust almost blinding. The lion part of March put in an appearance in good earnest. We don't want any "more of the same sort" this season.

Terrible Accident.

Captain Gage of the steamer C. D. Mills informs us that his boat was in Malden on Tuesday, where he learned of a terrible accident. The steamer McManus of the New York and Hudson line landed at Malden about 8 o'clock on the above-mentioned morning, and as she came to her dock one of her deck-hands leaped on shore to make fast a line. In some manner he was caught between a spring pile and the boat's guard, and one of his legs was literally crushed off. Captain Gage did not learn the man's name or other particulars.

On the Route Again.

The steamer M. Martin, Captain Henry Fairbanks, makes her first trip of the season today between Newburgh, Albany and intermediate landings. The Eagle, Captain Elvin Rogers, commences her season's work to-morrow. Both boats have been put in thorough repair and newly decorated during the past winter and come on the route fully equipped to sustain their good reputation. Mr. Ezra Hunter steers the Martin, of course, for what would the Martin do without Ezra? Echo answers, bilge.

Concerts.

The people of Kingston will have an opportunity of hearing the Jubilee Singers this evening, and no doubt many will avail themselves of the privilege of listening to the sweet voices of these people, who never close their concerts without leaving a pang of regret in the breasts of their hearers that the programme was not longer.

Next week the concert at the Baptist Church in the upper part of the city takes place when, our home talent will appear, and Miss Schafler with her clear voice and fine articulation will delight her audience.

Fell in a Fit.

During the fire Tuesday morning Frank Seitz was seized with a fit while engaged in his duties as a fireman. He was taken to The Freeman office, where he partially revived, and subsequently was removed home, and has since, we believe, fully recovered.

Another Fire Alarm.

The fire in the Cloonan building was not apparently fully extinguished, and about half-past one o'clock this morning took a fresh start, which caused the alarm to be sounded and called out the firemen. The fire was soon put out after the engines commenced work.

Personal.

Rev. Joseph P. Dysart, who spoke one evening not long since in the Rondout M. E. prayer meeting, has resigned his position as pastor of the Sprague Presbyterian Church of Albany, and the church is without a pastor.

Mr. J. M. Perrine, of the late firm of Eltinge & Perrine, has left for the west. He intends to locate at Chicago.

A Good Vote.

Congressman Dewitt voted for the limitation of the greenback issue to $3 6,000,000.

Opposition on the Hudson.

The New York Commercial Advertiser of Saturday, in an article on navigation on the Hudson River, says: Captain Hancox, the veteran commander and the oldest opposition steamboat man on the Hudson, proposes to put on an opposition line to Albany and Troy. We have had no very lively times among steamboat people on the Hudson for many years. From 1840 to 1846 opposition lines were run, carrying passengers from New York to Albany as low as one shilling fare. Indeed, at one time the steamer Sandusky took passengers for nothing, and some times promised people a free lunch if they would travel with them. Captain Hancox and his steamer Napoleon carried on a very exciting opposition against Daniel Drew and the late Isaac Newton, who were the founders of the People's line. Mr. Drew in those days was known by steamboat men as "Old Rawhide." Captain Hancox, and the Napoleon made it "red hot" for the "old line people." He proposes to do the same thing this season. The history of these contests on the Hudson River would make a most interesting article, as would the contest between Commodore Vanderbilt and Geo. Law, both on the East and Hudson Rivers. Captain Hancox, it will be seen, starts out for Albany on the first of April, with the swift and commodious steamer, James B. Schuyler.—The Schuyler was built at Jersey City by Mr. Allison for Captain Samuel Schuyler of Albany, who superintended her construction, being 209 feet in length, 30 feet beam, and draws five feet of water when loaded with 3,000 barrels, and her passenger cargo, which gives accomodation, with state rooms and berths, for 250 passengers. Her speed is eighteen miles per hour, and with two boilers on each guard forward consumes but three-quarters of a ton of pea coal per hour. Captain Hancox says that with this boat, and a duplicate which he intends to have ready by September, he can carry freight and passengers at one-half the rates now charged, and show larger net profits than steamers now navigating the river.

Sudden Death of a Well-known Man.

Mr. David W. Woolsey of Milton in this county, father of C. Meech and George C. Woolsey, died very suddenly at his home on Sunday morning last, and his funeral will take place to-day from the church at Latintown.

Mr. Woolsey arose at his usual hour on Sunday morning, dressed, and took his accustomed walk out of doors. After partaking of breakfast, apparently in his ordinary good health and spirits, he seated himself in a chair and was enjoying his pipe and conversing with the family when the summons from the land "beyond the smiling and the weeping" came, and he died without a struggle, sitting in his chair and in the midst of the family circle. The deceased had lived four years beyond the three score and ten usually alloted to man, and his life had been one of good, honest work. He was probably as well known as any man in Ulster county, and every man who knew him was his friend. He had a large circle of acquaintances in this city and particularly among men much younger than himself, because of his sunny, genial temperament and courtly manners. The writer remembers him as "one who bore without reproach the grand old name of gentleman."

The Gale on the River.

The Hudson Star in its issue on Tuesday morning says: "The propeller Watch of Saugerties was at our docks yesterday and left here about 9 A. M. Shortly after leaving, her steering gear became deranged and during the gale which prevailed she drifted ashore below the foundry docks.

The Cayuga of Schuyler's line of tow boats was on her way up river with some fifty odd boats in tow; when off Coxsackie the gale became so violent that she was compelled to make a harbor at the dock of that place. In making the landing the steamer parted her hawser, and the hawser tier becoming separated the boats went adrift. At last accounts the Cayuga was backing and filling in the channel, endeavoring to collect her tow, and save the boats from going to destruction."

The Annunciation.

To-day, being the feast of the Annunciation, will be observed as a holy day of obligation in the Catholic church. There is some dispute as to the time when this festival was instituted. We are sure that it was observed in some degree as far back as the fourth century, since there is mention of it in a sermon of St. Athanasius. On this day the church commemorates the message to the Blessed Virgin by the angel (Luke I., 30-33) that she should conceive and bear the child Jesus. In old style this day commenced the year. St. Mary's Church will have masses at six, eight and ten o'clock in the morning. In the evening there will be services in the church, consisting of a sermon and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at half-past seven.

Horticultural Society.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Management of the Horticultural Society next Thursday evening, at the office of Van Etten & Clearwater, on John street, at 7:30. This meeting has been called to take some action in regard to the death of E. W. Buddington, Esq., a late member of such society.

CITY NOTES.

—There is one good thing about this cold, windy weather—it drives the corner loafers from the streets.

—The Canal Company expects to bring more coal into Rondout this season than ever before.

—A team ran away through John street Tuesday morning and uprooted several posts, but without seriously injuring any one.

—The temperance division uptown initiated a number of brand-new members Monday night. Let the good cause progress.

—"Good sap weatner this," said an awful man to us on Tuesday; "this is my second handkerchief to-day and it isn't noon yet."

—There was ice along the shores of the creek on Tuesday morning, and weatherwise old prophets say we are to have one more snow storm. Oh, give us a brick.

—Casper has been refitting his barber shop —new paint and paper—and now it appears bright, but it isn't a bit dearer than usual—it couldn't be, you know.

—There is getting to be a large pile of bricks on the Lutheran Church's new lot out of which will grow a handsome new church with school rooms beneath.

—That man who was going to plow his garden patch on Tuesday called at the livery stable and countermanded the order for a team.

—We saw a man chase his hat two blocks on Tuesday forenoon without uttering a forcible remark, and we set him down as being, like Deacon Smith, "a truly good man."

—The railroad track on Division street from Mill to Ferry street on Tuesday morning was filled with ice, and the cars ran off the track, while the horses had great difficulty in keeping on their feet.

—John R. Stebbins & Co. have a lot of American ensigns for sale, and they are the regulation dimensions, and beautiful flags withal. We'll bet a dead marine they were made at some navy yard—we twig the style.

—An unattended mule while solemnly strolling on Union street on Tuesday afternoon was rushed at by a dog. That dog got suddenly elevated and we are not certain it has come down yet.

—The reason why Cornell Hose Company wasn't better represented at the fire on Monday is because white cotton gloves have been ordered as uniform until November 1st, and the weather was too cold to make them comfortable.

—An ex-warrior brought three battle-tried blades, one formerly belonging to a rebel officer, into the sanctum of The Freeman, whereupon one chap inquires "What're you going to do with them?" "Oh, chop off a few feet of your ear," was the tender rejoinder.

—The days of our youth were brought to mind by seeing two youngsters with breeches rolled up to their thighs out on the flats "bullheadin'" on Tuesday. Oh, the excruciating ecstasy of having a bull-head's horn thrust in the bottom of your foot! Gimme a piece of fat salt pork.

—The grapevine in rear of the Cloonan house on Division street where the fire was on Tuesday morning, presented a strange and beautiful appearance. The spray from the streams thrown by the fire engines had fallen on the vine and become frozen, causing it to appear like a net-work of silver when the sun shone on it.

—A benzinist from the country came driving up John street with a tremendous splurge Monday; then he stopped, fell out on the sidewalk, taking the wagon seat with him, went in a saloon, took a drink, got in his wagon, when the seat again tipped, and both the seat and the tipsy chap came down with a crash together. It was a wonder he wasn't killed, considering the stone walk is not the safest place on which a man can fall—but who ever heard of a drunken man getting his neck broken?

—The streets are so dry uptown, the dust is as great an inconvenience as the mud has been. When the wind blows, which it has for the past day or two at a great rate, the air is so filled with dirt a person can hardly see. It has no effect, however, to keep the ladies within doors, and after they have been on the street for a half hour one can readily imagine the principal ingredient of their heavenly forms must necessarily be—dirt.

The Concert this Evening.

We hope the earnest efforts of the Rondout Presbyterian ladies to provide a delightful entertainment this evening will be sufficiently appreciated to call out a full audience in the new and beautiful church. The artistes engaged for the organ and vocal concert are so well and favorably known that we feel impelled only to add to the fulsome praise they have received from other sources the remark that Mr. Whitney is considered one of the first organists in Boston, that musical centre, while Mrs. Spring and Mrs. Carter have reputations gained by singing before the best and most critical classes in our largest cities. The programme is a rarely attractive one, and we may promise in behalf of the ladies a musical entertainment such as is seldom given here.

Of course the good people who attend the concert will not fail to step in and look at the ladies' restaurant in the chapel. When they see it they can go away without indulging their appetites, of course, if they wish to, but we rather imagine a look at those good things —and the ladies—will capture them.

Narrow Escape of a Small Boy.

One of the small boys who inhabit East Front street, was almost scared out of his wits Tuesday by a scissors grinder. It seems a number of boys took hold of the gentleman's machine while the owner was absent, thinking they could operate it, and when the grinder returned he caught hold of one of the party by a tippet tied around his neck and carried him by this choking apparatus for some distance. When the small boy was released he was duly carried to his ma. It is safe to say small boys will give a scissors grinder plenty of lee way in the future.

Man Overboard.

While a chap was walking over the trestlework of the railroad near Higginsville, a heavy blast of wind came and blew him overboard. He fell in the pond below with a great splash, and then paddled to the shore. He wasn't hurt any, but he was awfully wet.

Recorder's Court.

The business of this court is becoming more dull each month, so in time there seems to be some prospect that it will be a sort of nonentity in our city government. Since our last record of proceedings, which was, if we remember aright, some little time ago, there has been a few cases before the court, which we now transcribe for the sake of the public.

Albert Sickle was arrested on the complaint of James McCabe, that Sickle, who is one of the small boys in the lower part of the city, had spit in the face of his worthy spouse, Elizabeth McCabe. The urchin plead vociferously in answer that he was not guilty. He did spit. Yes, as a prisoner even he admitted that, but wasn't it the high right of every American citizen to spit—to throw from the mouth the saliva that nature has ordained shall accumulate on the glands of the mouth of a free republican and voter of this state? We don't mean the prisoner actually said this, we only wish it understood he must have thought something of the kind when hauled up before the high dignity of a city magistrate, may be by some new-born official who had devoured the weed with the munificence of a prince, and spat at intervals whenever he wished! Yes, he spit, not at anyone with malice prepense, to ornament the fair cheek of the lady with the ingredient, but he spit generally, in a sort of miscellaneous manner as he was walking along the street, and rude Boreas wafted the crystallized liquid to the face of the fair one. So thought the Recorder, no doubt, for he immediately discharged the youth with the admonition, "Depart young man; go home, but hereafter spit with deliberation, and with that discrimination and power of judgment every spitter should be possessed of."

The next case upon the calendar was The People vs. Charles Meyer. The prisoner was brought into court charged with a breach of the peace by his wife Henrietta. He gave bail.

Alfred Crook was arrested, charged with having committed that very indefinite crime, "disorderly conduct," which in his case meant being put out of Joseph Markle's saloon, getting very wroth thereat and putting his foot through a panel of the door. He was fined the very definite sum of $5, which he paid.

Hannah Hinckley, a remnant of that almost extinct race called Amazons, next came before the court, also charged with having been disorderly. This disorderly crime, however, was different from that of the other, inasmuch as it was strictly feminine. She was only mellow—and that means drunk. This, though a crime under that highly comprehensive phrase "disorderly," when the offender is a woman, is not usually considered anything worse than an "indiscretion" on the part of the male sex. The prisoner was told to go and sin no more. She went.

Owen Melia next came to the front charged with having committed an assault and battery on Lawrence Sutton. These gentlemen, it seems, were enjoying the pleasures of celebrating St. Patrick's Day, and necessarily became somewhat loaded—or perhaps exuberant would apply as well—and while under this excess of emotion, Owen gently prostrated Lawrence in the mud, then rolled him over and urged him to get up with the pleasant stimulus of a baste in the ribs with the toe of his boot. He gave bail.

The Creek Boats.

The season of navigation is fairly opened by the arrival last night of the steamer Thomas Cornell of the six o'clock line between this city and New York. An early season of navigation has already been inaugurated, and although business is not as lively and prosperous as might be desired, the prospects are that as soon as the canal is opened and all the vessels now in preparation are got in readiness, there will be no cause for complaint in this direction. The Cornell, as also the James W. Baldwin, has been newly painted and extensively repaired, having had $9,000 laid out on engine and hull, to say nothing of furniture and etceteras. Capt. David Abbey is in command, of course, with Capt. W. H. Cornell as his first officer. Messrs. Henry Marsh and Louis Shultz are the able and faithful men at the wheel, while Chief Engineer Thomas Purdy, with his son Nathan (a chip off the old block) for an assistant, preside over the motive power. Mr. Charles Tillou, who was steward last season, fills the position of freight clerk, and Len Perry, a new man, is messenger. The steward, whose name we did not learn, is also a new man on the route, but an accomplished caterer, having sailed in deep-water steamers. Kate Johnson will be found in the saloons as usual, as merry as a cricket; and last, though by no means least, Andrew Ten Broeck, with a corps of able assistants, presides over the galley, from whence come the good things. The boats of the six o'clock line are as sumptuously fitted and as well officered as any steamers that float and will no doubt enter upon the coming season with the fullest confidence of the traveling public.

The Cornell arrived at her wharf in this city this morning, bringing a full passenger list and a very large freight. The James W. Baldwin leaves New York to-day at the usual hour, 4 o'clock, from the old pier foot of Harrison street. A prosperous season to both of them.

Woman's Work.

One of the most interesting features of woman's work uptown is a sewing school established by the Misses Forsyth, Miss Van Leuven, Mrs. Hardenbergh and one or two others. At this school the children of poor parents are taught to sew. The ladies first buy the cloth and cut it out with their own hands, then teach the little one how to make the garment. After it is finished the child is made a present of it, thus giving them another incentive to work, besides that of learning the trade. This school was at first held at the residence of one of the ladies, but soon increased so it had to be held at School No. 11 instead. Here on Saturday of each week these good women assemble their school, and labor faithfully to educate the little ones in that branch of woman's work that will make them, when they grow older, to be women of industrious habits, and be a help instead of a burden to society. There are several societies for the help of the poor in this city, such as the Discipline Society, and the Ladies' Aid or Dorcas Society; but though these societies do a great deal of good, yet they will never, perhaps, be of such substantial benefit to the coming generation as this sewing school. And these ladies who do their work, often a most thankless task, modestly and quietly, without parade, should ever be honored among us as true Christian women, May other women, those butterflys, or maybe gad-flys of the community, read this article, and go and do likewise. Let a school of this kind be formed in every school house in this city, and though the seed may not always fall upon good soil, or bring forth fruit an hundred fold, it will yet bear that which will have a marked effect on the future life of these girls, and upon the coming woman as well.

Round Robin Hood's Barn.

The Newburgh Journal of Monday evening says: "The barge Blanchard, from New York, loaded with two thousand barrels of sugar consigned to Chicago, arrived here yesterday, the freight being sent this way on account of the strike of the Erie hands at Jersey City. The freight was put on board the cars here and started westward at noon. During the work of transferring one of the laborers was hurt, by being caught between two cars, but not seriously injured."

Mrs. Caster denies that the row on Friday evening commenced in her house, but says it was started by George Von Beck and his companions in O'Pray's hotel, the story about its originating in her place having been gotten up to damage its reputation.

The Lumber Season.

The lumber season has opened and the lumber merchants have moved from their city offices where they have been hibernating to their offices in the lumber district. A new and busy life again springs up where for several months perfect quiet and stagnation have reigned.

There is a large supply of lumber in the district, as the depressed condition of trade, due to the panic, interfered with sales to a large extent in the fall. The past winter has not been a particularly active one in the manufacturing regions of Michigan and Canada, and lumber is held at stiff prices. There will, of course, be a full supply, but from the present out-look, buyers can hardly expect much concession from holders. As business revives and the labor question becomes more settled the demand will increase rapidly and it is probable that those dealers from New York and the east who make their purchases earliest will show the most wisdom. The wicked waste of lumber that has been going on for so many years in the pineries has already raised the price of this indispensable material and will eventually cause it to become enormously dear. The pine forests are of limited extent, and as it takes several hundred years for a pine forest to grow, we can look forward to the time when a wooden house will be a luxury.—Albany Times.

New Remedy for Fits.

According to our latest dispatches, one of the most enlightened communities in this county must be that of Shokan. A few nights ago a number of benzinists assembled together in East Shokan to celebrate the temperance movement, no doubt, and at the same time see who could guzzle the largest amount of genuine poison and keep his heels to the ground. During the debauch one of the party fell into a fit, which came very near frightening the rest sober. One of their number, however, had a remedy. This chap it seems is versed in the art of necromacy, and declared by the powers of witchcraft and the laws of magic that the gentleman with fits must be stood on his head, and the sole of his right foot tickled with the finger nail of the forefinger of the left hand. We think that was it, though it might have been to apply the nail of the middle finger of the right hand to the sole of the left foot. We are quite certain it was one or the other at any rate. Whether the poor unfortunate has survived this doubling up process we cannot say, but should suppose it must have given his body a terrible racking.

The following is the result of the election for Chief and Assistant Engineers of the Eastern Department, held yesterday: For Chief Engineer—George Weber 203; Anthony Gallagher 33. First Assistant—R. Mooney 231; L. Eppenstein 1; J. P. Derrenbacher 1; C. C. More 1; blank 2. Second Assistant—Stephen G. Canfield 235; blank 1.

At the election in the Western Fire Department the following officers were elected:—Chief Engineer, Moses T. Newkirk; First Assistant, Peter E. Hommel; Second Assistant, George Lowery; Secretary, James Oliver; Treasurer, Henry Pitts. There were cast 217 votes

A New Move in the Temperance Crusade.

A number of the young ladies of Ellenville belonging to the Temperance Division have determined not to attend any more sociables if held at places where liquor is sold, believing that such action is necessary to a proper carrying out of their principles. In consequence of this determination, a ball which was advertised to come off at one of the hotels in that village on Friday of this week, at which Professor Abrams of this place had engaged to furnish the music, has been given up. A ball-room without the presence of the fair sex would be a dismal place indeed.—Middletown Press.

Weather.

It is quite evident winter does not intend to leave us without an additional evidence of its frigidity. Sunday evening the temperature was quite agreeable, and up to 10 o'clock there were no indications of the change which occurred during the night. Before midnight, however, it "blew great guns" and the mercury took a tumble. All night the wind howled in the most uproarious manner. On Monday the weather was of a most wintry character, as it was on Tuesday. The Catskils were frequently whitened by snow flurries; the wind was exceedingly high and the dust almost blinding. The lion part of March put in an appearance in good earnest. We don't want any "more of the same sort" this season.

Terrible Accident.

Captain Gage of the steamer C. D. Mills informs us that his boat was in Malden on Tuesday, where he learned of a terrible accident. The steamer McManus of the New York and Hudson line landed at Malden about 8 o'clock on the above-mentioned morning, and as she came to her dock one of her deck-hands leaped on shore to make fast a line. In some manner he was caught between a spring pile and the boat's guard, and one of his legs was literally crushed off. Captain Gage did not learn the man's name or other particulars.

On the Route Again.

The steamer M. Martin, Captain Henry Fairbanks, makes her first trip of the season today between Newburgh, Albany and intermediate landings. The Eagle, Captain Elvin Rogers, commences her season's work to-morrow. Both boats have been put in thorough repair and newly decorated during the past winter and come on the route fully equipped to sustain their good reputation. Mr. Ezra Hunter steers the Martin, of course, for what would the Martin do without Ezra? Echo answers, bilge.

Concerts.

The people of Kingston will have an opportunity of hearing the Jubilee Singers this evening, and no doubt many will avail themselves of the privilege of listening to the sweet voices of these people, who never close their concerts without leaving a pang of regret in the breasts of their hearers that the programme was not longer.

Next week the concert at the Baptist Church in the upper part of the city takes place when, our home talent will appear, and Miss Schafler with her clear voice and fine articulation will delight her audience.

Fell in a Fit.

During the fire Tuesday morning Frank Seitz was seized with a fit while engaged in his duties as a fireman. He was taken to The Freeman office, where he partially revived, and subsequently was removed home, and has since, we believe, fully recovered.

Another Fire Alarm.

The fire in the Cloonan building was not apparently fully extinguished, and about half-past one o'clock this morning took a fresh start, which caused the alarm to be sounded and called out the firemen. The fire was soon put out after the engines commenced work.

Personal.

Rev. Joseph P. Dysart, who spoke one evening not long since in the Rondout M. E. prayer meeting, has resigned his position as pastor of the Sprague Presbyterian Church of Albany, and the church is without a pastor.

Mr. J. M. Perrine, of the late firm of Eltinge & Perrine, has left for the west. He intends to locate at Chicago.

A Good Vote.

Opposition on the Hudson.

The New York Commercial Advertiser of Saturday, in an article on navigation on the Hudson River, says: Captain Hancox, the veteran commander and the eldest opposition steamboat man on the Hudson, proposes to put on an opposition line to Albany and Troy. We have had no very lively times among steamboat people on the Hudson for many years. From 1840 to 1846 opposition lines were run, carrying passengers from New York to Albany as low as one shilling fare. Indeed, at one time the steamer Sandusky took passengers for nothing, and some times promised people a free lunch if they would travel with them. Captain Hancox and his steamer Napoleon carried on a very exciting opposition against Daniel Drew and the late Isaac Newton, who were the founders of the People's line. Mr. Drew in those days was known by steamboat men as "Old Rawhide." Captain Hancox, and the Napoleon made it "red hot" for the "old line people." He proposes to do the same thing this season. The history of these contests on the Hudson River would make a most interesting article, as would the contest between Commodore Vanderbilt and Geo. Law, both on the East and Hudson Rivers. Captain Hancox, it will be seen, starts out for Albany on the first of April, with the swift and commodious steamer, James B. Schuyler.—The Schuyler was built at Jersey City by Mr. Allison for Captain Samuel Schuyler of Albany, who superintended her construction, being 200 feet in length, 30 feet beam, and draws five feet of water when loaded with 3,000 barrels, and her passenger cargo, which gives accomodation, with state rooms and berths, for 250 passengers. Her speed is eighteen miles per hour, and with two boilers on each guard forward consumes but three-quarters of a ton of pea coal per hour. Captain Hancox says that with this boat, and a duplicate which he intends to have ready by September, he can carry freight and passengers at one-half the rates now charged, and show larger net profits than steamers now navigating the river.

Sudden Death of a Well-known Man.

Mr. David W. Woolsey of Milton in this county, father of C. Meech and George C. Woolsey, died very suddenly at his home on Sunday morning last, and his funeral will take place to-day from the church at Latintown.

Mr. Woolsey arose at his usual hour on Sunday morning, dressed, and took his accustomed walk out of doors. After partaking of breakfast, apparently in his ordinary good health and spirits, he seated himself in a chair and was enjoying his pipe and conversing with the family when the summons from the land "beyond the smiling and the weeping" came, and he died without a struggle, sitting in his chair and in the midst of the family circle. The deceased had lived four years beyond the three score and ten usually alloted to man, and his life had been one of good, honest work. He was probably as well known as any man in Ulster county, and every man who knew him was his friend. He had a large circle of acquaintances in this city and particularly among men much younger than himself, because of his sunny, genial temperament and courtly manners. The writer remembers him as "one who bore without reproach the grand old name of gentleman."

The Gale on the River.

The Hudson Star in its issue on Tuesday morning says: "The propeller Watch of Saugerties was at our docks yesterday and left here about 9 A. M. Shortly after leaving, her steering gear became deranged and during the gale which prevailed she drifted ashore below the foundry docks.

The Cayuga of Schuyler's line of tow boats was on her way up river with some fifty odd boats in tow; when off Coxasackie the gale became so violent that she was compelled to make a harbor at the dock of that place. In making the landing the steamer parted her hawser, and the hawser tier becoming separated the boats went adrift. At last accounts the Cayuga was backing and filling in the channel, endeavoring to collect her tow, and save the boats from going to destruction."

The Annunciation.

To-day, being the feast of the Annunciation, will be observed as a holy day of obligation in the Catholic church. There is some dispute as to the time when this festival was instituted. We are sure that it was observed in some degree as far back as the fourth century, since there is mention of it in a sermon of St. Athanasius. On this day the church commemorates the message to the Blessed Virgin by the angel (Luke I., 30-33) that she should conceive and bear the child Jesus. In old style this day commenced the year. St. Mary's Church will have masses at six, eight and ten o'clock in the morning. In the evening there will be services in the church, consisting of a sermon and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at half-past seven.

Horticultural Society.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Management of the Horticultural Society next Thursday evening, at the office of Van Etten & Clearwater, on John street, at 7:30. This meeting has been called to take some action in regard to the death of E. W. Buddington, Esq., a late member of such society.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM — ALCOHOL

PURELY — DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA — VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked. "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

VINEGAR BITTERS

EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
